COG 21

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 21st, At 12:45 P. M.

President LOTUS D. COFFMAN

OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

WILL SPEAK ON

“New Problems for the American University”

DEAR SHRINERS, et al:

FRIDAY, October 21st, will be a big day in Albany. The University Convocation will be in session and educators from within and without the State will be here. The Shriners, too, are planning big doings and the fellows with the fezzes are coming from near and far. And last but foremost for the purposes of this screed, there will be a ROTARY luncheon at the usual time and place.

Among the bunch of college professors, superintendents of schools, college deans and high school principals who are expected in Albany on the 21st, are about 70 Rotarians of the Horner-Wiley-Jones-Pratt type. They have been invited to lunch with us, first, because we want their fellowship, and second, because they ought to attend to keep up their attendance score at home.

Likewise we want all visiting

Shriners who are Rotarians to join with us. If you are a Shriner and know of any out-of-town brother who is a Rotarian, invite him to lunch with you. And please don't let the fact that the big parade is scheduled to start at 1:30 p. m. prevent you from attending Rotary. Come for half an hour anyway, get your lunch and then skidoo if you have to, but lend your presence for the opening in any event.

It will be a worthwhile meeting. The speaker will be Lotus D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, whose subject will be “New Problems for the American University.” President Coffman is a widely known educator whose message will be full of import.

And after it is all over you can go out and watch Mayor Watt ride that camel.

Yours for the 21st,

JACK, Secretary.
